PARENTS PREVENT MARRIAGE

Even the Police Were Asked to Help But Were Unable.

The aged parents of a wilful girl prevented her marriage this morning couple exhausted every means to secure a license to marry and after the parents of the girl had appealed to the solice in an unsuccessful attempt to have them interfere. The girl, Olive Blunt, and Francis Peterson, both of Hunter, appeared at the office of the county clerk yesterday afternoon just before the hour for closing the office. They were in quest of a marriage liceuse. Just before they stepped to the counter in "Cupid's corner" a telephone message from the father of the hone message from the father of the firl requested the clerk not to issue the license because it was claimed that she was under 18 years of age. This nformation was given the couple and the girl declared that she was of the egal age. The clerk declined to issue

This morning, armed with the date and proof of the birth they were stopped while on their way to the clerk's office for their second attempt to secure a license. The parents after much persuasion induced the girl to return to Hunter with her companion that the matter might be talked over. Before finding their child the parents had called upon the police asking them to eniled upon the police asking them to interfere, but aid was denied them there for the reason that the law does not permit their intrusion into such affairs. The aged parents with their daughter and Peterson defi for Hunter this afternoon to talk matters over.

First Congregational Church Crowded To the Doors Last Night.

The First Congregational church as crowded last evening, "from pla dome," "from cellar to attic," and en people were tucked in until mov-ien people were tucked in until mov-ie around was attended with dif-cuittes. The occasion was the an-ual recital given by the violin pu-ils of George Skelton, the well known opport meister of the Symphony or pils of George Skelton, the well known concert meister of the Symphony orchestra. It was an interesting program in which these individual players participated: Nettle Snedecker, Gordon Rice, Owen Bartlett, Karl Springman, Vaughn Clayton, Francis Fargo, Ray West, Ella Pitts, Albert W., Freeman, John Krause, George Flashman and Edward Fitzpatrick, while in the orchestra were: Rose Pinnock, Harry Lester, Brutis Garner, R. James Evans, William Ross Hutchinson, G. Garrison Verbryck, Anna H. Warren, Luicime Compson, Earl Woodbrey, Ernest Hartman, Wendell M. Smoot, Bryan Risièy, Perez Kinney, Lenora Smith, Sally Sears, Freeman Kutnewsky, Ella Pitts, Clarence Burton, Felicia Lambert, Constance Bruere, Pauline Heringer, Bessie Barnett, Geo, Flashman, Romania Hyde, John Krause, Vaughn Clayton. The three first players are little children, but they got a tone out of their violins that was remarkable, as was also their clearness of execution, Among the best numbers of the evening, were those by Romania Hyde, Morris Andrews, Edward Fitzpatrick,

Among the best numbers of the evening, were those by Romania Hyde, Morris Andrews, Edward Fitzpatrick, Clarence Burton, and Bessie Barnett. These were highly enjoyed by the great audience Mrs. Plummer was in her best voice, giving two beautiful numbers, one of which "The Twilight Hour," was written by Mrs. Thomas Weir who was present to hear it sung Mr. Skelton played for this a violin obligato, while for the second song there was an orchestral accompaniment including two violins, viola, cello, flute and clarinet by Messrs Skelton, Flink, Press, Jorgensen, Flashman and Engberg. This song was "the Shoogy Shoo," words by Grace Mayhew and music by Mr. Skelton, a lovely bit of musical versification. Mrs. William Igleheart made an excellent impression in her reading of Tennyson's "Book," with violin and piano accompaniment. She had also the pleasure of presenting medals to Nettle Snedecker, Gordon Rice and Owen Bartlett, the little violinists, for special excellence, while isice and Owen Bartlett, the little vipilinists, for special excellence, while it may be said that the amount of floral presentations in general were enough to have cleaned out the stock of city florists. The way they were stacked up in an ante room before the recital would have brought joy to the heart of a wedding or funeral director.

A particularly interesting feature was the playing by Albert W. Freeman who gave Dvorak's "Humoresque," whose teaching is entirely by our. The accompanying by Mrs. Skelton and Mrs. Burton was very good. These annual recitals by Mr. Skelton's pupils have come to be a popular function.

FOR THIRD SOUTH

New Vandeville House, it is Rumored, Will be Added to List.

Another theater for this city is the promise and Third South street Imme diately east of the Colonial will be the location. While it is admitted that the deal is pending those interested decline to discuss the details. The owner of the building, which is now in the course of construction, is J. P. Megeath, one of the owners of the Salt Lake Stamp company and other business concorns in the city. The original intention of Mr. Megenth was to build a three-story structure with stores on the ground floor and a rooming house or offices on the upper floors. This decision was altered, however, and the present intention of Mr. Megeath is to erect a six-story building with stores and theater on the ground floor and a modern hotel in the upper stories.

The first rumor regarding the hotel was to the effect that it would be a motion picture house excelling any others in the city. This has now changed, however, and it is strongly indicated that the place will run to vaudeville with either the Suillvan & Considine attractions or the Pantages offerings, Mr. with either the Sullivan & Considing attractions or the Pantages offerings. Mr. Megeath was unwilling to discuss the matter this afternoon or to indicate with whom he was making negotiations, though they were being further considered today, but, it is understood, were not closed.
